Pensioned Vets Warned to File Income Figures

The deadline for returning income questionnaire cards is fast approaching, veterans and dependents on VA pension were reminded today by Veterans Service Officer Mrs. Sara T. Bridges, Torrance Area, Veterans Service Center.

The income reporting cards must be completed and returned to the Veterans Administration by the end of January, or pension payments will automatically be stopped under the law. The service officer repeated her offer of assistance to all pensioners in completing and returning the cards, which were sent to VA pensioners with their checks for December.

A few of the more common errors made by pensioners in completing the questionnaires: errors or omissions that can delay future receipt of pension checks.

For example, sometimes pensioners fail to complete all items on the form. Items which do not appear to apply should be marked "none" or "not applicable."

Explanations or supplemental statements for such items as sale of property, farm income, operation of a business, and so forth, often are missing or lack clarity.

WIDOWS sometimes mistakenly indicate they are married, rather than widowed. The cards must be signed. Unsigned cards must be returned for signature, causing delays. Signatures by mark "X" may not be properly witnessed.

To prevent such errors and omissions, the service officer suggested that pensioners come to the Veterans Service Office at 1622 Gramercy Ave., for assistance in proper completion of the cards.

PROPER handling of the cards is vital to the VA's automatic processing system, and they must not be bent, stapled, pinned, cut or torn.

Income reports are doubly important this year because two separate pension laws are in effect. Four different sets of cards were sent to pensioners, depending on type of pension received.
